

Chemistry Study Room

Room 9721

(Across from Dr. Grow and Dr. Philips' Office)

In order to assist organic chemistry students with their studies, the Physical Sciences Department has established a study room for chemistry students. In this room you will find the following items to help you.

- A library of reference books and texts so you can get additional information
- Several computers with interactive organic chemistry programs
- Access to copies of old tests given by Drs. Grow and Philips
- Access to copies of warm-up tests for various topics
- Access to copies of worksheets given out in the past
- A quiet place to study with a worktable and blackboard
- Easy access to faculty help
- Other chemistry students with whom you can discuss problems and concepts
